Dear Earl,

If you intend to keep my copy of Waketh much longer I'll appreciate your making the copy I told you you could and returning it. Today a student wanted to borrow a copy and I do not have one. That was my only copy.

I hope you have kept in mid what I told you and say in the manuscript, it does not represent fixed conslusions but addresses motive, means and opportunity.

Since I loaned that to you the manuscript on the Hosty book has been retyped.

If you'd like to read it I can lend you a copy and you can copy it if you'd like or I can get a copy made for you. about 200 pages

The day you were so kind and drove us to Hopkins my blood pressure went crazy and then straightened out. It has gone crazy again today for the first time since then.

High again.

If you or your family is interested in the Civil War history of this area there is a mature student who is a national parks volunteer, is steeped in it, and for lunch would be a guide.

There is much more to the Civil War history than Gettysburg!

Best,

Harold
